Our goal is to integrate these companies into global trade and contribute to sustainable economic development in our partner countries. This way, we are an important interface between development cooperation and foreign trade.

Quality regulations, necessary certificates, contact to potential buyers – on the way to Europe, there are many hurdles for exporters and service providers to overcome. Together, we will remove these obstacles.

First, various criteria have to be fulfilled before your cooperation with IPD can start. To make sure your company meets our requirements, IPD experts will visit and evaluate your business in advance. As an IPD partner company, you benefit from the following services.

We offer small and medium-sized companies advice and trainings on topics, such as:

- Basic international standards, norms, and certificates
- Process and product documentation
- Action plans for accessing international markets
- Sales and communication with international clients

We stay in close contact with you throughout the entire internationalisation process, visiting you regularly to offer assistance in your further developments. Our goal is to prepare you as best as possible for the European market.

IPD is part of the „Partners in Transformation – Business & Development Network“, in which the BMZ programmes for economic actors are organized. The aim of „Partners in Transformation“ is to drive forward socio-ecological and feminist economic transformation in the partner countries.

Through this commitment, we aim to integrate small and medium-sized enterprises from developing countries into international European supply chains and increase exports from our partner countries.

Our goal is to drive innovation and support value addition in order to create jobs and new sources of income for the low-income population.
